Good afternoon,

In his press conference that just ended, Governor Charlie Baker extended the statewide school closure until early May.

From the Boston Globe:

"Massachusetts Governor Charlie Baker has extended the shutdown of state schools into early May, in the latest step to prevent the spread of the coronavirus pandemic. Baker said all schools, public and private, and all non-emergency day care facilities would be shut down until Monday, May 4. On March 15, Baker had ordered a three-week shutdown of schools, beginning March 17 and lasting until April 7.
